

'Cathy's Theme', Wuthering Heights (1939)

Thursday 10th May, 6–9pm (PRIVATE VIEW)
Guest Projects, 1 Andrews Road, London, E8 4QL

Referencing early films, where musicians were employed in studios to create moods for actors whilst filming, Eugene Feygelson, a violinist will play this score in the gallery space, providing emotional stimulus for the gallery audience.

The score will be played in three different emotional tones at intervals throughout the evening: Romantic, Hysterical and Melancholic.

A work devised by Julie Hill for Crying Out Loud.
